

Make your CV stand out from the crowd!

Internship Opportunity: to work at the British Dietetic Association with the Education and Professional Development Team

Core project:

The BDA's Education and Professional Development Team is seeking an enthusiastic and IT conversant individual to support the development of its online learning resource.

Skills required of the intern:

- Excellent IT skills
- Ideally experience of using Articulate software or similar online learning software package
- Experience of developing websites or web-based resource
- Creativity of approach
- 'Can-do', enthusiastic attitude

What we can offer you in return:

- Opportunity to undertake a variety of tasks to meet your own career / CPD needs, including:
 - Work on BDA publications including Dietetics Today;
 - Learning about dietetic policy and how guidance is developed;
 - Contribution to Practice Based Evidence in Nutrition development and content
 - Understand how the BDA (heart of the profession) works to support members;
 - Learn more about specialist areas of practice including the Sport and Exercise Nutrition Register (SENr)
- Opportunity to attend a CED course of your choice

This role would ideally suit a Midlands based student or new graduate. Hours can be flexible to suit availability.

To apply, please submit your CV and a covering email to Rosanna Hudson, Education Policy Officer / SENr Manager r.hudson@bda.uk.com by Wednesday 10th August 2016